LAW IS BEHIND OPEN HEARINGS TIMES, SAYS JURIST

Justice Holmes contends that science teaches the world skepticism

DEFENDS JUDICIARY SYSTEM

Attacks Upon Courts Evidence of Unrest in Public Mind, He Says

WASHINGTON, April 20.—How the supreme court of the United States, at least one member of it, views the present day criticisms of the courts is set forth in a speech by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, made public today in the form of a senate public document. Justice Holmes delivered the speech recently at a private dinner in New York.

Science has taught the world skepticism, the justice said by way of preface, and made it legitimate to put everything to the test of proof.

"Of course, we are not excepted," he said, referring to the supreme court, "not only are we told that when Marshall pronounced an act of congress unconstitutional, he usurped a power that the constitution did not give, but we are told that we are the representatives of a class—a tool of the money power. I get letters, not always anonymous, intimating that we are corrupt. Well, gentlemen, I admit that it makes my heart ache. It is very painful when one spends all the energies of one's soul in trying to do good work, with no thought but that of solving a problem according to the rules by which one is bound, to know that many see sinister motives and would be glad of evidence that one was consciously bad. But we must take such things philosophically and try to see what we can learn from hatred and distrust and whether behind them there may not be some germ of inarticulate truth."

Is Evidence of Unrest.

The attacks upon the court, the justice added, "are merely an expression of the unrest that seems to me to underlie whether law and order pay."

A very complete truth to be extracted from the popular discontent, according to Justice Holmes, is that judges, particularly in state courts, may read their consciences of unconscious sympathies prematurely into the law.

"It cannot be helped. It is as it should be. The law is behind the times," declared Justice Holmes. "As law embodies beliefs that have crystallized in the battle of ideas and then translated themselves into action, while there still is doubt, while opposite convictions still keep a battlefront against each other, the time for law has not come; the notion destined to prevail is not yet entitled to the field."

POPE GETS UP AND FEELS MUCH BETTER

Four Days Pass Without Any Fever—Continued. Rest Urged by Doctors

ROME, April 20.—Such improvement was found in the condition of the pope by Doctors Marchisiani and Amici on their visit to the sick room this evening that they did not consider it necessary to issue a bulletin. The morning bulletin was as follows:

"For four days his holiness has had no fever. As a result of the amelioration of the bronchial affection the pope gradually is recovering his strength."

Mr. Braccini, the pope's secretary, and Father Tardini, his nephew, celebrated mass today in the chapel adjoining the papal bedroom in the presence of Angelo Sarto and the pope's sisters and nieces.

The pontiff is desirous that the members of his family should return to their homes and has requested them to reassure his friends outside of Rome that he hopes soon to resume the regular course of his life and receive the faithful who come to Rome to ask for his blessing.

Able to Sit in Armchair.

The physicians have some fear that his anxiety on the part of the pope for work may have an unfavorable effect and constantly impress upon him the necessity of patience and rest. They have warned the attendants that they would consider them responsible for any imprudence. The pope, however, rose from his bed today and remained for an hour or more in an armchair. This seemed rather to cheer the pontiff.

The physicians reported tonight that the pope's condition was satisfactory and that the revival of his strength was progressing. They now are convinced that he will be able to hold his fever in check and that with no complications the area of bronchitis soon will be cleared.

Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, today received Cardinal Ferrata and gave him last instructions in the name of the pope regarding the Eucharistic ceremonies.

ON TARIFF OVER

OPPONENTS CAN FIVE THEIR PROTESTS

Currency Reform Plans Will Be Laid at Caucus to Be Held Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Two weeks of tariff debate behind closed doors will be followed early this week by the opening of the real fight over the Democratic tariff bill on the floor of the house. Backed by the favorable decision of the Democratic house caucus and hearing the approval of President Wilson, the Underwood tariff bill will appear on the floor of the house by the middle of the week, ready for the fight that is to be waged there over its passage.

The success of the measure in the house is assured at the outset, according to the Democratic supporters of the bill.

The Republican forces, led by members of the ways and means committee who denounced the Underwood bill in a minority report made public today, again will attempt to upset the free wool and free sugar in three years plans of the president, which carried through the Democratic caucus by a large vote. It is believed, however, that the Republicans cannot secure enough Democratic allies to threaten seriously the bill at any point.

Attack Secret Hearings.

The demand made by Republican senators last week that hearings should be allowed on the bill after it reaches the senate has not moved the Democratic members of the finance committee to change their original plans. No oral hearings will be given. All industries and persons likely to be affected by the change in tariff are being given an opportunity, however, to file further statements with the committee if they have new information that was not furnished to the ways and means committee last January.

A ground work for currency reform legislation is to be laid Tuesday, when a meeting of the full membership of the senate banking and currency committee will be held.

Advocates of woman suffrage will be here before the senate committee on woman suffrage during the week. The hearings opening tomorrow, and will urge that a constitutional amendment for woman suffrage be approved at this session of congress. Friday, Alaska railroad legislation is to be the subject of a committee hearing. Based on bills now before the senate for the construction of government railroads.

BURGLAR, KILLS ONE, WOUNDS TWO OTHERS

Woman Shot When She Cries to Husband Man and Wife Meet Similar Fate

ATTLEBORO, Mass., April 20.—Mrs. James Colbert of South Attleboro was killed by a burglar early today, and an hour later Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powers, neighbors, were shot and severely wounded. The same robber is believed to have figured in both affairs.

Mrs. Colbert, according to the police, was awakened by a strange man in her room and screamed to her husband, who was in another part of the house. Without a word of warning, the intruder shot the woman in the breast and disappeared through a window. Mrs. Colbert was barely able to gasp out her story to her husband before she died.

Colbert notified the police, who had just begun an investigation when word came of the shooting at the Powers residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers said they had been aroused by someone in their room, and when they called out, both were shot. They are expected to recover.

ARGENTINE AGITATOR SAYS U. S. PROMOTING SOUTHERN REBELLIONS

ANTIFOGASTA, Chile, April 20.—The Argentine poet and agitator, Manuel Ugarte, who is conducting a personal campaign against the United States, once more has taken up and urged the necessity of Latin-American nations uniting to prevent the absorption of the various republics by the United States. He declared that the United States was promoting revolutions and overthrowing the presidents of the smaller republics.

Ugarte was cheered by an excited audience, which escorted him to his hotel. He left here for Valparaiso to continue his propaganda.

AUSTRO-BULGARIAN PLOT AGAINST SERBIA REVEALED

LONDON, April 21.—A Belgrade dispatch to the Daily Mail says that the existence of a secret Austro-Bulgarian convention providing for reciprocal assistance in conflict with Serbia has been revealed through the indiscretion of a subordinate diplomatic official.

RAILROAD LABOR CONTROVERSY SOON TO BE SETTLED

Above are shown the three men in whose hands rests the settlement of the dispute between 35,000 firemen and the 54 railroads controlling systems in that territory east of Chicago and north of the Mason and Dixon line. From left to right they are: W. W. Atterbury, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad; William L. Chambers, the disinterested third party; and Albert A. Phillips, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. Below is a photograph of W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, who led the men in their fight for a higher and more uniform wage scale and better working conditions.

DENVER PRESS CLUB ENJOYS "BIG" TIME

Members Eat Lunch in El Paso Mine and Have Elaborate Banquet at Antlers

One hundred and sixty Denver newspaper men and women yesterday spent what they termed "the most enjoyable day in the history of the Denver Press club" when they made the trip to Cripple Creek over the Short Line, took dinner at the 300-foot level of the El Paso mine and returned last night to an elaborate banquet at the Antlers hotel.

The trip to Colorado Springs from Denver was made in a special Denver and Rio Grande train managed by A. W. Parrott, city passenger agent in Denver and turned over to the club. From this city to Cripple Creek and return the party were guests of Traffic Manager Fred C. Matthews of the Cripple Creek Short Line, who provided a special train for the occasion. The train left here at 11 o'clock and returned at 8 p. m. A special menu was prepared by the Rio Grande. It bore the press club's monogram, a view of the Antlers hotel and caricature of "Billy" Dunning.

Lunch in Mine.

At Cripple Creek lunch was served in the El Paso mine, a unique and enjoyable affair that made a distinct "hit" with the visitors. The members of the party were taken down in hoists at the old shaft and walked through the 300-foot level of the El Paso mine were turned over for the inspection of the visitors. Guides were provided and the guests spent considerable time exploring the property. Superintendent J. H. Nichols directed their efforts and almost every member brought back a piece of ore that "glittered" like gold.

The banquet last night at the Antlers was one of the most cleverly arranged affairs ever given in the city. The dining hall was transformed into a ballroom. It was given in the form of an English dinner with every detail perfect. The banquet room was decorated with cut flowers and electric lights shone through the letters "Denver Press Club," modeled in ice. Carrying out the English scheme, Manager Dunning had statues done in ice of Queen Elizabeth and St. George, and these were on display in the banquet room. Special menus were issued for the occasion.

English pipes and tobacco were distributed during the banquet, and

NOTHING WORTH WHILE WITHOUT FAITH—BRYAN

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary of State Bryan told an audience of men in the second of a series of Sunday afternoon Christian Endeavor meetings that there never was a time when faith was needed more than at present.

"Without faith," said Mr. Bryan, "it is impossible to accomplish anything worth while. A man must have faith in God, faith in himself, faith in his fellow men and faith in his government before he can do any work of importance in the world. Faith in the government does not mean that men shall not see its defects. They must try to perfect it. Our form of government makes it possible to make the government just as good as the people deserve."

Grand Junction Is Again Visited by Militant Workers

GRAND JUNCTION, April 20.—Sixty militant members of the Industrial Workers of the World arrived in Grand Junction tonight and at once caused trouble for the police. Led by Jack McDonald, "mariner" of San Diego, they marched at once to police headquarters where they demanded food. It was denied them.

Sixteen of the band then went to a restaurant where they ordered a plentiful meal for which they refused to pay. The proprietor called the police and special deputies arrived at the restaurant before the Industrial Workers of the World had left. With drawn revolvers the deputies demanded and forced payment of the dinner checks.

The men then declared that there was no more money in the party but they expected to stay in this city for three days and be fed. Citizens tonight are organizing a posse to drive the visitors from Grand Junction in the morning.

S. B. Hutchison, who was dismissed from service as chief of police because of his lack of activity against a former guard of I. W. W. disturbers in the city, has advertised a meeting for the Industrial Workers.

Sees Husband Killed in Accident; Learns Fate Upon Her Arrival Home

DENVER, April 20.—While the first big crowd of the season enjoyed the warm, bright sunshine at Eldorado park, Sunday afternoon, and in full sight of his young wife, whom he married 10 months ago, Lincoln L. Silver, 21, was instantly killed while riding in a motorcycle race.

Silver, who started next to the last in the race, was on his third lap and about half way around the circuit, when he undertook to pass another rider by driving his machine to the upper edge of the saucer-shaped track. While attempting this his motorcycle struck one of the posts of the enclosure and Silver was thrown against the wire netting guarding the outside of the track, from which he rolled down the steep slope toward the center. A doctor who rushed to his assistance found that his neck had been broken in the fall. Silver's young wife, through one of the spectators of the accident, was not informed of his death until after she had returned to their home.

WARM, STORMS, COLDER, SAYS THE WEATHER MAN

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Moderately warm weather will prevail throughout the great central valleys, the Rocky mountain region and the plains states the coming week.

The weekly bulletin of the weather bureau says:

"The next storm of importance will appear in the far west Tuesday or Wednesday, move eastward and cross the great central valleys Thursday or Friday and the eastern states near the end of the week. This disturbance will be preceded by a general rise in temperature, be attended by showers and thunderstorms and be followed by considerably colder weather which will overspread the northwestern states Thursday and Friday."

FOREIGNER FLEECE OUT OF LAST DOLLAR

Bunco Steerers Said to Have Driven Man Here From Cripple Creek

Threatened with life imprisonment for taking 50 cents from his employer, Sam Sherman, a foreigner, unable to speak the English language, was literally "kangarooed" out of Victor, and fled to Colorado Springs, where he is now hiding, according to information given Assistant District Attorney Guy P. Nevitt of Teller county, who has instituted an investigation.

According to the story told in Victor, Sherman, for the last 11 months, has been working there as a cobber for L. Greening, at a salary of $3 a week. Sherman was accused of taking money while his employer was away, and a train was laid for him. On a charge of stealing 50 cents, Sherman was arrested either by a police officer or a district attorney, a proceeding that the district attorney is investigating, but which was not yet cleared.

Sherman said that he was told he would pay the court costs and get out of town; everything would be all right, but if he refused he might go to jail for life. Sherman drew from the postal savings department his deposit of $37.50, money he had saved, a few pennies at a time, by denying himself actual necessities. A list of costs for various fees, amounting to $37.50, was shown him and he paid over the amount. Then he was given $5 to buy a ticket to Colorado Springs, and allowed to keep the $2.25 change he received.

It is said that his employer admits he received $37.50 of the robber's savings. The authorities have been unable to find who took the money.

According to a report from Victor, Sherman is critically ill in one of the hospitals here. Inquiry at the local hospitals yesterday failed to find him or any of the institutions. Sherman has written a friend in Victor, but gave no address here.

SLAP CONGRESSMAN, IN CONTEMPT HOUSE?

Congress Will Take Formal Notice of Encounter at Today's Session

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Formal notice will be taken in the house tomorrow of the assault upon Representative Sims of Tennessee, Friday, by Charles S. Glover, a Washington band leader, including most of the Tennessee delegation, conferring at the Capitol today and determining that an attack upon a member of congress was an interference on the floor of the house was too grave a matter to go unnoticed. Representatives Garrett and Houston of Tennessee were appointed a committee to draft a resolution to be presented when the house convenes tomorrow.

It is proposed to have the resolution provide for an investigation by a committee of five to ascertain whether the facts warrant the arrest of Mr. Glover on a charge of contempt of the house.

In a published statement, Mr. Glover has admitted he slapped Representative Sims' face on account of the representative's references to him in the speech on district legislation. This, those who have looked up the law and precedents, contend, constituted contempt of the house.

WOMEN ATTACKED BY LONDON MOBS

SUFFRAGETTES GIVEN COLD RECEPTION

Large Bodies of Police Are Required to Furnish Protection

LONDON, April 20.—The suffragettes had plenty of evidence today that the public was tired of suffragette demonstrations. Large bodies of police protected the women from the hands of angry mobs. At Brighton, the suffragettes were chased off the esplanade and took refuge in a neighboring house. This was surrounded by howling thousands, who bombarded the place with stones and smashed every window.

In defiance of the ban on meetings in Hyde park, the Women's Social and Political Union attempted to carry on its propaganda there. Demonstrators anticipated that such attempts would be made, and 20,000 persons assembled at the customary meeting place.

Mobs Attack Women.

No sooner had a suffragette mounted the box and unfurled the militant flag than the police intervened. Turf and stones were thrown, and threatening rushes were made toward the women. A large force of mounted and foot police surrounded them and kept the mob in check.

No sooner had the police escorted one group of women to a place of safety than others appeared from another quarter. It took the police three hours finally to restore order.

Similar scenes were witnessed at Wimbledon and Hounslow Heath. An internal machine was discovered by a policeman early this morning in the doorway of the Yorkshire Herald office at York. The wrappings, inscribed "Votes for Women," indicated its origin.

TWO DEAD, 4 SHOT IN KENTUCKY DUEL

Fracas at Street Fair Has Tragic Ending—Father and Son Fall

FRANKLIN, Ky., April 20.—Two men are dead, one was fatally wounded and three others are more or less seriously hurt as the result of a pistol duel that took place in the streets of this city today. Judge John H. Goodnight, aged 33 years, and William Taylor, aged 45, were slain, while James Taylor, son of William Taylor, was fatally wounded.

It is said an altercation arose between young Taylor and Sheriff Gossett at a street fair. The sheriff ordered young Taylor off the grounds but some time later Taylor, accompanied by his father, came back. The altercation was renewed and the elder Taylor and the sheriff opened fire. Young Taylor then opened fire with two automatic revolvers but Gossett escaped unhurt.

After the affair it was found Taylor had been shot and mortally wounded and that Judge Goodnight had been hit by one of the stray bullets. The latter died several hours later.

Vernon Witt, a horseman, John P. Larue, an insurance man, and Will Moore, a farmer, also were wounded by stray bullets. The city is quiet tonight.

DIES OF HEART FAILURE FROM AEROPLANE FLIGHT

LONDON, April 20.—Sir Charles Day Rose, M. P., president of the Royal Aero club, yachtman and breeder of race horses, died today with tragic suddenness.

He made his first flight as a passenger in an aeroplane at Hendon this afternoon and was delighted with his novel experience. On his way to his home in a motor car he died from heart failure.

Charles Day Rose, the second son of the Right Honorable Sir John Rose of Montpelier, was born in 1847 in that city. He was created a baronet in 1906. He was a captain in the Montreal Garrison artillery and assisted to quell the Fenian rebellion in Canada in 1866. He has been a member of the Jockey club since 1881 and was for a time racing partner of King Edward VII when Prince of Wales. He was president of the Royal Automobile club of England later, becoming interested in watching. He once issued a challenge for the America's cup which, however, was withdrawn.

He sat in the British house of commons for the Newmarket division of Cambridgeshire from January 1902 to January 1910, when he was defeated, but he was reelected in December 1910. He was a Liberal.

His mother was the daughter of Robert Emmet Temple, of Rutland, Vt. His father, Sir John Rose, was the partner of Lord P. Morton in the Anglo-American banking house of Morton, Rose & Co., Sir Charles later taking his father's place in the partnership.

NO EXCUSE FOR REDUCTION TARIFF

---Republicans

Is 'Delusion and a Snare,' Says Minority Report of Committee

'TAX ON MANUFACTURES'

Defend Payne Aldrich Bill and Say Wages Will Be Decreased

WASHINGTON, April 20.—That a "delusion and a snare," that the radical tariff revision submitted by the Payne Aldrich bill is a "delusion and a snare," are contentions of the Republican members of the ways and means committee, in a minority report to be presented to the house tomorrow.

"There is no excuse for the radical change in our revenue system proposed by this Democratic bill," says the report, which is signed by Representatives Payne, Fordney, Gardner, Moore, Green and Anderson.

The people have not asked it. The party proposing it is in power, not by the grace of the majority of the American people, but by a division in the ranks of the majority on other questions than that of protection. The administration has the power to enact this legislation. The accounting for the abuse of that power will come later.

The report contends that the bill has caused "intense and widespread alarm in business circles."

Tax on Manufactures?

Asserting that the Democratic bill seems to meet with universal approval on the other side of the Atlantic, the report declares that the protective feature has been entirely eliminated in the framing of the bill.

"It is easily apparent," the report adds, "that many of the duties have been placed on articles used by our manufacturers and imported, wholly from abroad as a tax on manufactures; that many duties have been lowered so that they are much less than the difference in the cost of labor at home and abroad; that many articles now paying very low rates of duty have been put on the free list, while the comparative cost of production here and abroad is such that it will be impossible for business to continue without bringing down our scale of wages to the level of the rates paid abroad. In many cases articles are put on the free list, while a protective duty is laid upon the material used in their manufacture."

The elimination from the Democratic bill of the maximum and minimum feature of the present law is deplored by the Republicans who claim that through this provision great tariff concessions and regulations were proposed and much added to the sacred temple of the country.

Defending the existing Payne Aldrich tariff, the minority asserts that in the last four years "the people of the country have their more prosperous than ever before in our history."

ALIEN LAND LAWS MAY BE MODIFIED

Japanese Somewhat Placated by Prospects of Change in Legislation

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 20.—Gov. Hiram W. Johnson's secretary said here today that the governor had sent no reply to Secretary Bryan's telegraphic message Sunday regarding California's proposed Alien Land ownership legislation.

Await Developments.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Further consideration of proposed alien land legislation in the California assembly tomorrow is awaited with deep interest here. There were no important developments today in administrative circles. Secretary Bryan received a telegram, reported to be from Governor Johnson, acknowledging receipt of the secretary's message of yesterday outlining the administration's view of the situation, but did not make the contents public. Representatives Barker, Demonts and Kent, Progressives of California, issued statements discussing the demand in their state for alien land laws.

Interest Centers in Charges.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 20.—In the absence of new developments in the alien land situation today, interest centered in the amendments to be offered to the senate measure tomorrow by Senator Birdsell, if the bill comes up on file. There is some doubt as to its being reached, as it is far down the list.

Birdsell's amendments are designed to make the bill more particularly anti-Japanese by framing it so as not to include the Chinese.

THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS IN SPORT CIRCLES

Edited for THE GAZETTE by E. E. Overholt

ZOOZ MEET TARTAR IN PUEBLO TEAM AND LOSE OPENING GAME; SCORE 8-4

Recruits Blow Up at Critical Stages and Miss Opportunities to Hold Invaders

To their opening game in the improved yard, yesterday, those Zooz showed a lack of their customary spring conditioning at Chaslin Falls, for an unknown band of athletes, known officially as the Red Athletics club of Pueblo, humbled the home aggregation, 8 to 4.

Yesterday was the first game of the season in the Sunday Afternoon league, but as it was not the real sure-enough opening of the season, the usual glad stuff incident to opening games was lacking. It was nothing but plain dope yesterday. The player was billed to toss the first ball, but his honor developed a shabby horse in his elbow and had to be excused.

However, Mr. Hastings, the well-known pitcher-electrician, was wild enough in the first ball pitched to give a touch of amateurism to the scene. He tossed one of Mr. Brown that was wild as Brown had to do a handless hand spring to escape instant death. The ball struck the bat while B. was doing up like a human pretzel and rolled fair. Hastings shot the ball to first and Brown was out before he could get away from the post.

Like most of the other big league managers, Mr. Gail is trying out some young material this spring, but our showing yesterday it looks like it's back to the minors for some of them. Zooz defense went to pieces at critical stages of the contest and, in battling rally by the home boys was like the street car that runs past the ball yard—it never came. From the fourth inning until the last of the ninth, some 600 people waited for the Zooz to hit and after that the same 600 waited for another hour for street cars that didn't show up. It was learned from an unofficial source last night that cars will be furnished hereafter, provided that the games are called at 2:15 o'clock.

In the first inning, Pueblo did not show anything exciting, either at bat or in the field. The Zooz made a pair of runs in their half of the opening inning on two hits and battery errors. Deal made the circuit in the second on his own safety. Purcell's sacrifice and Gail's pop single to center.

Pueblo came from behind in the fourth and scored three runs, evening the score. With one down, McGraw was safe on Long's error, and took

SNOWY BAKER WILL COMB AUSTRALIA TILL HE FINDS A WORLD-BEATING HEAVYWEIGHT

Successor of Hugh McIntosh Has New Ideas About Handling Prospective Ring Talent

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Snowy Baker, the man who has succeeded Hugh McIntosh as Australia's leading light promoter, is possessed of the ambition to discover an Australian-born husky who can be developed into the greatest world-beating heavy-weight of all times.

In pursuance of his quest, Baker has departed from the methods usually followed by sporting managers in search of ring talent. He has appointed agents through the land and has advertised over the whole of Australia's three million square miles of territory.

He has set forth that when choice has been finally made for all the would-be champions who have made application and undergone inspection, the fellow chosen will live in clover for two years.

He will be educated, fed and paid good wages and all that will be required of him will be to pay strict attention to the men employed to teach him the science of pugilism and adhere strictly to the tenets of correct hitting.

Baker recognizes that the hunt for his idol will call for all the patience he is endowed with. He expects setbacks and disappointments, and has made up his mind not to be discouraged or turned aside from his purpose.

He believes that even if he has carried a recruit along to a certain point some fine old-fashioned "will" will suggest the advisability of calling a halt and sending the novice back to the mines or the shearing sheds or wherever he came from.

In which case, "Snowy" will grab another package of raw material and begin all over again. He is determined to find the man he is after or know the reason why.

According to news brought by a recent mail there were a couple of hundred applications for the job after one month of recruiting. The would-be champions ranged in age from 17 to 20 years and weighed all the way from 180 to 230 pounds.

It may be that Baker will become alarmed at the dimensions his scheme has assumed but he appears to think that he has a thorough grasp of the situation and that he will be able to sift a whole regiment of stalwarts, if necessary, and locate the most promising men in the bunch.

Needless to say, it is a dearth of good heavy-weight material in Australia that has impelled Baker to this course. It remains to be seen whether will come of the scheme. Some old-time trainers will tell you that champions are born, not made, but whether they are born or made, Baker feels that they must be advertised for.

Apart from what the securing of the highways and highways of Australia may bring forth, Baker has three ex-amateur heavyweights in process of development just now. These are Gordon Ogilvie, former amateur heavy-weight champion of Australia, Albert

CINCINNATI, April 19.—Joe Tinker says there are 10 men in a game of baseball. To the nine who hold regular positions Joe adds the coach, who he says, and insists his role is every bit as important as that of any of the others. Of course, there are only nine on the side that is in the field, but the side at bat, according to the new manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is incomplete without a smart ball player in the box a few feet outside the third base line.

"I don't consider the first base coach a very important person," says Joe. "He may be of some account in catching signs or in disturbing a pitcher, but he has only to take care of the runner at first base, and that runner is in a position to take care of himself. But the man over at third must be alive and know baseball pretty thoroughly. Innumerable games have been won because the third base coach knew when to have the runners take chances, and innumerable battles have been lost because 'bone' coaches held up runners or made them go ahead at the wrong times."

"With the Cubs we were always particular about our coaches at third base when a game was tight. I remember one occasion last spring. We were tied up to the eighth inning, and we got a man to second base with two out. King Cole was coaching at third. Some of us said to Chance: 'Will he know enough to send him in?' Meaning had Cole enough experience and knowledge of the game to coach the runner all the way from second to any part of a hit. The answer immediately called Cole to the bench and sent out Artie Hoffman in his place. The batter hit a ground ball to the infield. It was fumbled momentarily and the play was made to first base too late to get the batter. Artie sent his men home without the slightest hesitation, and the winning run was scored, although the play at the plate was close."

"The other side didn't score in the next inning, and it was our game, but if Hoffman hadn't taken that chance at the right time, we might have wound up in a tie or even beaten."

"Of course, you may suggest that we might have won any way; that the next batsman might have hit a home run if the runner had been held at third, but the only safe basis on which to figure baseball play is results. One can never tell what might have happened, but always knows what did happen and can make plans for the future."

"I believe a great deal of the recent

KILBANE AND DUNDEE

START HARD TRAINING

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Both Johnny Kilbane, champion feather-weight, and Johnny Dundee of New York, challenger, who will meet for a 20-round fight at Vernon arena the night of April 29, began hard training today. Kilbane, who is training at Venice, boxed with his sparring partners before a large crowd of fans while Dundee gave a similar exhibition before many of his followers at Vernon.

SOME OF BEST BOXMEN

ARE ALSO GOOD HITTERS

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—The suggestion that pitchers be relieved of the formality of batting on the ground that most of them are deuces in the art of swatting the sphere and therefore should stick to their own department, that of deceiving the batter, is not heard quite so often nowadays. The reason for this is simple. The pitchers themselves are exploding the theory by connecting wonderfully well with wists of their adversaries.

Take the really good pitchers and you will find that few of them confine their efforts to pitching. The star pitchers are real all-around players. They do not depend entirely upon the cunning and strength of their salaried arms. They know how to field and do field with skill. They know how to bat and demonstrate their ability along that line when put to the test.

Joe Wood led the American league pitchers in victories. He batted .290, his hits including 12 doubles, a triple and a home run. He made but four errors in 43 games. Eddie Plank, who lost but six games, ranking next to Wood, batted .287 and felled without an error. Walter Johnson, the pitching marvel, hit .264, six doubles, four triples and two homers going to his credit. He also felled his position splendidly. Jack Coombs, who won 21 and lost 10 games, batted .255 and did not make a fielding error. Jean Dubuc of the Tigers led his teammates in victories, batted .275 and erred but three times. McConnell of the Yankees hit .297, while Russell Ford batted .286. The two led the Yankee hurlers in victories. Ford was also among the leaders in fielding. Fred Blasing was the Naps' most consistent winner. He felled excellently and batted .285, as did George Mullins of Detroit. Chief Hendrix, the leading pitcher of the National league, led the heavies in fielding and batted .222, his collection of drives including 10 doubles, six triples and one four-sacker. Mathewson, Crandall, Willis, Camnitz, Rucker, Brennan and Marquard also batted well and ranked high as fielders as well.

It goes to show that class tests. Had Joe Wood, Russell Ford, Ed Walsh, Hendrix, Walter Johnson, Coombs, or Plank elected to play some other position, the chances are that he would have succeeded, providing he had brought the same energy to bear upon his work that he devoted to pitching. Perhaps the country was robbed of a great second sacker when Joe Wood became a pitcher. Perhaps a grand third baseman went to waste when Jean Dubuc picked out the box as the safest spot on the team. Who knows but that Christy Mathewson might have made a wonderful first baseman?

BAD WEATHER CAUSES RECORD NUMBER OF POSTPONEMENTS IN BOTH MAJOR LEAGUES

Season Is Still Too Early to Get Accurate Line on Probable Pennant Contenders

NEW YORK, April 20.—Pleasant, good baseball weather in the last few days, after an opening period of moistness which caused no less than 25 postponements with a week has accelerated the "shaking down" process in the two major leagues.

The clubs gradually are finding their respective levels, although the results of scheduled engagements still are visible in the percentage tables. These daily computations hardly can be expected to give a really accurate line on the playing abilities of the teams until the first all-around series of engagements has been completed and each club has been tested against all the other seven contenders for the pennant of its organization.

The National league list, with Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, showing first division class, looks the more natural of the two tables. One of the big features of the week's play has been the rise of the Giants from last place to near the top of the column.

The champions, apparently have struck their stride, although it is true all their victories have been at the expense of Boston, last year's tall enemy. Philadelphia has had only one victory to contend with and all its games have been won by one run margins. The series has developed some high class pitching by Manager Doolie, who has shown that the club looks strong. Pittsburgh has devoted its principal attentions to Cincinnati, it found the Reds a hard club to beat, but got away with three completed games, although played to a standstill in the dusk in the other.

Chicago could do no better than break even with St. Louis, but had the edge in the series with Pittsburgh. The later club's pitching staff now is showing something of its expected form and the Chicago box work, likewise, has been picking up.

Brooklyn has been doing little effective batting, while their fielding "bobbles" have been costly. Cincinnati's lost games have mostly gone by close scores and better work from the Tinkers' team may be expected. Boston, while fighting bravely, seemed outclassed in their recent games with the Giants. St. Louis still may be put down as an uncertain quantity.

FRANK CHANCE FIRST TO TAKE A MAJOR LEAGUE TEAM OUT OF STATES TO TRAIN

Yankees' Trip to Bermuda a Big Success and Same Plan May Be Adopted Next Year

By W. J. MACBETH.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Bermuda is likely to become as much of a contested question as the pennants of the major leagues. Frank Chance proved conclusively the benefits to be derived from the beautiful climate of this little island dependency of Great Britain.

When Chance left New York for Bermuda he weighed 215 pounds in his winter overcoat. When he left Bermuda for New York he scarcely raised the beam at 182 pounds, stripped. Chance therefore took off more than 35 pounds of excess baggage, but that is not the point.

Chance went to Bermuda a physical question mark. He has been unable to play during two baseball campaigns. The layoff had rolled up many pounds of useless flesh. If he had been a young ball player his task of getting into fit physical condition would have been hard indeed. For a veteran of 15 years' service the effort seemed abnormally impossible. Before Hank proved himself an exception to the laws of "youth will be served."

Frank Chance believes that he would not have been able to overcome the handicaps under which he labored but for the rejuvenating climate of Bermuda. He is a living example of what may be accomplished there. He was in Bermuda seven weeks. In less than four weeks he was almost down to playing weight. He started his "come back" efforts very doubtful as to the possibility of getting his legs back shape. According to Trainer Barrett, Chance has the best pair of legs on the team.

What Chance accomplished simply shows the possibilities of Bermuda. His entire squad left the island as fit as any club which ever represented the American league in this city. The athletes found unusually rough weather on their return to the north but this did not seem to effect them as it had done previously when the preparatory work had been carried on in Georgia. The highlanders were so "lucky" as to be knocked about and out of commission in their exhibition games around New York. This was the fault of luck and not of lack of physical fitness.

New York will return to Bermuda next year. One other major league club is likely to go there. Charles H. Ebbets, the Brooklyn magnate, believes a visit would prove not only beneficial but financially successful as well. He is only one of many who think that a series of practice games between two first-class major league clubs would draw a gate sufficient to pay a great part of the training expenses. Mr. Ebbets is very fond of Chance's Yankees just now. The big bear filled his new park in the first game of the spring in this vicinity. The clubs are booked to battle next year at the new Farrel field. Charley is not averse to grabbing off all the money he can and he sees a nice little pot of it in Bermuda.

It would be easy enough for two or three big league teams to find accommodations on the island. Business Manager Irving Shovered a real big league field at Somerset. This town is 12 miles across the bay from Hamilton and within easy driving distance. There is another field at the navy yards where the bluejackets decide their soccer and cricket arguments. Either one of these places would welcome major league athletes.

As a matter of fact any one of the three available grounds might accommodate at least two teams. Jersey City worked out with the Yankees at the Hamilton cricket ground this year. There was room enough for everybody and no confusion at any time.

New York will institute a number of improvements if it returns to the island next spring. One will be a driving range, that the grass of the performance may be properly kept and dried through practice. Dampness of atmosphere was the sole drawback in training this year. It is also proposed to put steam heat in the hotel occupied by the players so that they will run no risks of taking cold.

Mike Mowrey is carrying his years unusually well and has forced Miller Huggins to admit that he is the best third base candidate of the Cardinals for one more year at least.

guests were given souvenirs. Fink's orchestra provided music, and members of the club led in singing that enlivened the occasion. After the banquet Miss Hazel Wallack and her brother, Gail Wallack, both of Denver, danced the graceful Argentine tango.

Attorney John W. Kelly, auditor of the club, made a short, witty address expressing the appreciation of the club members for the affair and thanking those who added to the hospitality of the day.

A number of local people accompanied the party, among whom were the members of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Mr. Matthews is chairman, and several newspaper men.

The visitors had planned to leave at 9:30, and the train's time was changed three times to accommodate the party. Local Agent W. H. Cundley, of the Rio Grande looked after the arrangements and saw that the party was safely aboard when the train left at 11:15 last night.

LAW IS BEHIND

premature law, he expressed the belief that 20 years ago when a "vague terror" went over the earth and the word "anarchy" began to be heard, fear was translated by judges into doctrines that had no proper place in the constitution or the common law.

"Judges are apt to be naive, simple-minded men and they need something of Sophistophiles," observed the justice.

Justice Holmes concluded by saying that as he grew old, he grew commercial, and predicted that competition from new races would cut deeper in the future than workmen's disputes and would test whether "we can hang together and fight."

"I do not pin my dreams for the future to my country or even to my race," he said. "I think it probable that civilization somehow will last as long as I care to look ahead. I think it not improbable that man, like the grub that prepares a chamber for the winged thing it never has seen but is to be, may have cosmic destinies that he does not understand. And so beyond the vision of battling races and an impoverished earth, I catch a dreaming glimpse of peace."

NEBRASKA LEGISLATURE DEADLOCKED OVER BILLS

LINCOLN, Neb., April 20.—After a short session today, the Nebraska house of representatives took a recess until 2 p. m. Monday. The senate will meet at 11 a. m. The two houses are deadlocked over the propositions of university removal and campus extension appropriations. The general maintenance bill for state institutions is yet to be acted upon.

U. S. TROOPS WILL REMAIN ON BORDER

Desultory Firing Continues at Nogales Federal Soldiers Are Still Held

GALVESTON, Tex., April 20.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff, declared tonight that the second division of the United States army will remain mobilized at Galveston and Texas City "until the causes of the mobilization are removed."

"I do not know just how long the division will remain mobilized," he said, "nor does any other man know. The division will remain any length of time, a month or longer to one year. I am sure the stay will be a long one, six months or longer."

General Wood, who is on a tour of inspection of border camps, visited Fort Crockett here today. The Texas City camp will be inspected Monday, and General Wood, with his aide, Capt. Powell Clayton, will leave Monday night for Brownsville. He will proceed from Brownsville along the Rio Grande to El Paso and Nogales, Ariz.

Fighting Continues at Nogales

NOGALES, Ariz., April 20.—Desultory firing continued during today between the Constitutionalists holding Empime and the Huerta garrison entrenched at Guaymas. The exchange of shots was at long range, across the bay. The concentrated attack is not expected to begin for several days. The state troops will be delayed in any general attack on the California gulf port city by necessary repairs on the artillery employed in the recent attack on Naco, and the repairing of pieces captured from the federals at Naco.

Federal and state troops taken prisoners incident to the battles at Nogales and Naco, Sonora, remain held by United States troops of the border patrol. It was said today that no order for their release has been received from Washington. Contrary to reports from Washington, the federal soldiers here are being fed at the expense of the Mexican government. Returning to the federal authorities would arouse complications as the captured munitions are mixed. Several persons claim authority to receive the rifles and cartridges.

Negotiations between the state authorities and officials of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, will result tomorrow in turning over the road to the railway company. Since the beginning of the Sonora state uprising, the railway and its various branches have been run by the state. Mixed trains will be run until the result of the Guaymas attack will make possible the continuation of the regular service.

Japanese Ire Softened

TOKYO, April 20.—The announcement that President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan are making efforts to bring about a compromise in the proposed California legislation with respect to the alien land ownership bill and that Gov. Hiram Johnson is opposing the bill, softened Japanese ire, and public opinion now has become more optimistic. The alleged unwillingness of the American missionaries to assist in resisting the bill is the subject of harsh criticism in Japanese papers, but after a conference with Count Okuma, the foreign minister, had with the missionaries, the latter dispatched telegrams to California, the exact nature of which are not known.

Count Okuma ironically reminded the missionaries that Japan owed its first lessons in modern humanitarian principles to the United States. "Now the duty has devolved upon Japan," he added, "to teach the Californians the same principles."

The Japanese consul at Vancouver, C. Yada, who has arrived here, has caused some excitement by the statement that anti-Japanese legislation is pending in the Canadian provinces of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Mr. Lovett declined to discuss the case.

PARIS AUTO BANDITS PAY DEATH PENALTY

PARIS, April 21.—(Monday).—The auto bandits, Monier, Callemain and Souley, were guillotined at 4:35 o'clock this morning. The execution of all three took less than four and a half minutes. Souley was the first to suffer the penalty; then came Callemain, and last, Monier. All died quietly.

Monier, as he was pushed on the plank, cried:

"Good-by, gentlemen, and all human society!"

PARIS, April 20.—The auto bandits, Monier, Callemain and Souley, will be executed at dawn. It was supposed they would go to the guillotine Tuesday, but the authorities kept their decision secret until the last moment, with a view to preventing any manifestation.

As a consequence, comparatively few spectators were assembled tonight around the Sante prison, where imposing forces of police and republican guards were lined up at midnight. A heavy rain drove some of the morbidly curious back to their homes.

Four men were to have been executed, but Dieudonne, one of the bandits sentenced to death by the Paris court of assizes on February 27, was pardoned yesterday by President Poincaré.

The men were convicted of many murders.

FORMER SENATOR CURRY MAY GET APPOINTMENT

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 20.—Advice received from Washington state that former Congressman George Curry is being favorably considered by the Republican committee of the Philippine commission. Curry's candidacy is being strongly urged by Senators Fall and Catron of New Mexico, and Smith of Arizona. Curry previously served as governor of the provinces of Samar, Camarines and Isabela in the islands, and was the first civilian chief of police of Manila.

ST. LOUIS RESORT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

ST. LOUIS, April 20.—West End Heights, one of St. Louis' best-known summer gardens, was destroyed by fire tonight, causing a loss estimated tonight at $200,000. One man, Dan Slattery, the watchman, who was ill with pneumonia in his bed in the hotel, is missing and it is feared he perished.

KING ALBERT OF BELGIUM
Whose Domain Is Now in the 'Phases of the Great Struggle for Manhood Suffrage.

MANHOOD SUFFRAGE WILL WIN, DECLARES BELGIAN SOCIALIST

BRUSSELS, April 20.—The opinion now is general in political circles that at the session of the chamber of deputies Tuesday the government will be prepared to accept the conciliatory motion of the Liberal leader, M. Mason. This provides that if the parliamentary committee appointed recently to consider the reform of the provincial and communal franchise system evolves a plan which appears to be a manifest improvement on the part of the methods, then the advisability of revising parliamentary elections along the same lines shall immediately be considered. The adoption of this motion by the chamber would mean the end of the strike which is paralyzing Belgium's industry.

It would require the defection of only five clericals to assure the adoption of the motion and there is little doubt that the Socialists would accept the move branch thus offered. The Socialists assert that there will be 500,000 men out tomorrow.

Socialists See Victory

LIEGE, Belgium, April 20.—Twenty thousand persons assembled at a gathering here today listened without the slightest disorders to addresses on the strike situation throughout the country. The Socialist leader Emile Vandervelde, said the proceedings in the chamber of deputies seemed to show that the thin end of a wedge had been inserted.

"If I were asked this question today: Will the strike succeed? I would unhesitatingly reply that it has already succeeded. You are going to win double victory. You have aroused the masses from indifference and have felt your strength. And you have bitten your lips and maintained the most absolute calm. You have honored the laboring class, and in the name of your representatives, I thank and congratulate you."

Diamond Cutters Go Out

CHARLEROI, April 20.—The burgo-master has sanctioned a meeting of all the strikers in the province on Thursday, on condition that the strikers themselves appoint police to preserve order. The Liberals will participate actively in the demonstration.

ANTWERP, April 20.—The diamond cutters by a vote of 1,021 to 153 decided today to join the strike movement. A detachment of Clerical union workers also will go out.

PROTECT STRIKERS ON RETURN TO WORK

AUBURN, N. Y., April 20.—Striking employees of the Columbian Rope company, who return tomorrow will be protected from interference by a large force of deputy sheriffs and police, it was announced tonight by Sheriff Bancroft, following reports that strikers from the cordage plants of the International Harvester company would attempt to dissuade them from carrying out the agreement for a resumption of work. The strike at the Columbian plant was settled Thursday through the efforts of the state board of mediation.

The harvester company strikers declare that the Columbian company employees should stay with them as they went out when the Columbian strike was called. The harvester company still is holding in abeyance the transfer of the twine mill machinery to Germany, pending the outcome of a movement in which Governor Sulzer and Auburn business men have interested themselves to keep the industry in Auburn.

THREATENED REVOLT BY MORO WARRIORS AVERTED

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Trouble with the Moros in the Philippines which has threatened the peace of mind of the war department for several weeks has been averted. Reports of belligerent tribesmen, numbering 3,000 which practically laid siege to Jolo and dared the American garrison to venture forth and do battle, has disappeared.

The Moros threatened to revolt because agitators from the province of Luzon had spread reports that the Americans planned to make them abandon the Mohammedan religion.

First Motor Car Church in America Dedicated

CHICAGO, April 20.—The first motor car church to be used by a religious society in America was dedicated to its purpose today on the lawn at St. Xavier's academy by the Rt. Rev. D. J. Dougherty, bishop of Jaro, P. I.

The car is called St. Peter's Motor chapel and was donated by a California woman in memory of her husband. The equipment will be shipped to Brownsville, Tex., and the missionaries will take it through the southwest for the next year. A huge tent, carried on its top, surrounds the car when it is used as a church, and seats 300 persons.

EX-KING MANUEL TO WED PRINCESS VICTORIA

A similar announcement to this was made at Munich as long ago as January. Princess Augustina Victoria is Manuel's cousin. She is 22 years of age.

EVERYBODY WILL LAUGH AT RAYMOND HITCHCOCK

Theatergoers of this city have seen Raymond Hitchcock in many comedy roles; they have heard him in many comedy speeches, but the greatest of all the Hitchcock shows is "The Red Widow" which is announced as the attraction at the Grand Opera house, Monday, April 23. "Everybody is doing it now," laughing at Hitchcock, Flora Zabelle, and a large company of eighty fun makers who take part in the performance. It is not necessary to outline the plot. It is said to be something different, produced in characteristic Cohan and Harris style. To be sure, one act has its locale in London, but this is merely to start Cleora Hannibal Butts, (Raymond Hitchcock) on his way to Russia, where he becomes involved in all kinds of hilarious plots, caused by his infatuation for a beautiful young woman, who turns out to be a dangerous nihilist, and known to the police as "The Red Widow."

Raymond Hitchcock is said to have added much to his popularity as a comedian in his present vehicle, which has enjoyed phenomenal prosperity since it was first produced. His role of Cleora Hannibal Butts, is declared to fit him well. Then too he has the assistance of a large company who have all won their spurs in their respective parts. The performance will also be enlivened by a galaxy of talent. No doubt the forthcoming engagement will establish a record in this city.

ZOOZ MEET TARTAR IN PUEBLO TEAM AND LOSE OPENING GAME, SCORE 8-4

Recruits Blow Up at Critical Stages and Miss Opportunities to Hold Invaders

In their opening meet to the first of the season, the Zooz team, which showed a lack of their customary spring conditioning at Chagrin Falls, for an unknown reason, known officially as the Rex Athletic club of Pueblo, humbled the home aggregation 8 to 4.

Yesterday was the first game of the season for the Zooz team. The team, which was not the best, sure enough opening of the season, the usual glad stuff incident to opening games was achieved. It was nothing but plain dope yesterday. The mayor was killed to lose the first ball, but his honor developed a charity horse in his elbow and had to be excused.

However, Mr. Hastings, the well-known pitcher-electrician, was wild enough in the first ball pitched to give a touch of anathema to the scene. He was not to Mr. Brown that was so wild, Brown had to do a handless hand spring to escape instant death. The ball struck the bat while B. was done up like a human pretzel and rolled fair. Hastings shot the ball to first and Brown was out before he could get away from the post.

Like most of the other big league managers, Mr. Gall is trying out some young material this spring, but on the showing yesterday, it looks like it's back to the minors for some of them. Zoo defense went to pieces at critical stages of the combat and a batting rally by the home boys was like the street car that runs past the ball yard—it never came. From the fourth inning until the last of the ninth, some 600 people waited for the Zooz to hit, and after that the same 600 waited for another hour for street cars that didn't show up. It was learned from an unofficial source last night that cars will be furnished hereafter, provided that the games are called at 2:15 o'clock.

In the great third round, Pueblo did not show anything startling, either at bat or in the field. The Zooz made a pair of runs in their half of the opening inning on two hits and battery errors. Dead made the circuit in the second on his own safety. Pierce's sacrifice and Gall's pop single to center.

Pueblo came from behind in the fourth and scored three runs, evening the count. With one down, McGraw was safe on Long's error, and two

KILBANE AND DUNDEE START HARD TRAINING

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Both Johnny Kilbane, champion featherweight, and Johnny Dundee of New York, challenger, who will meet for a 20-round fight at Vernon arena the night of April 29, began hard training today. Kilbane, who is training at Venice, boxed with his sparring partners before a large crowd of fans while Dundee gave a similar exhibition before many of his followers at Vernon.

SNOWY BAKER WILL COMB AUSTRALIA TILL HE FINDS A WORLD-BEATING HEAVYWEIGHT

Successor of Hugh McIntosh Has New Ideas About Handling Prospective Ring Talent

By W. W. NAUGHTON.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Snowy Baker, the man who has succeeded Hugh D. McIntosh as Australia's leading light promoter, is possessed of the ambition to discover an Australian-born husky who can be developed into the greatest world-beating heavyweight of all time.

In pursuance of his quest, Baker has departed from the methods usually followed by sporting managers in search of ring talent. He has appointed agents through the land and has advertised over the whole of Australia's three million square miles of territory.

He has set forth that when choice has been finally made, for all the would-be champions who have made application and undergone inspection, the fellow chosen will live in clover for two years.

He will be clothed, fed, and paid good wages, and all that will be required of him will be to pay strict attention to the men employed to teach him the science of pugilship, and adhere strictly to the tenets of correct living.

Baker recognizes that the hunt for his idol will call for all the patience he is endowed with. He expects setbacks and disappointments, and has made up his mind not to be discouraged or turned aside from his purpose.

He believes that even if he has carried a recruit back to a corner, that some "flaw" will develop that will suggest the advisability of calling a halt and sending the novice back to the mines or the shearing sheds or wherever he came from.

In which case, "Snowy" will grab another package of raw material and begin all over again. He is determined to find the man, he is after or know the reason why.

According to news brought by a recent mail there were a couple of hundred applications for the job after one month of publicity. Baker to this course. It remains to be seen what will come of the scheme. Some old-time trainers will tell you that champions are born, not made, but whether they are born or made, Baker feels that they must be advertised for.

Apart from what the scouring of the highways and byways of Australia may bring forth, Baker has three ex-ammateur heavyweights in process of development just now. These are Gordon Coghill, former amateur heavyweight champion of Australia; Albert

'Third Base Coach Very Important Says Tinker'

CINCINNATI, April 19.—Joe Tinker says there are 10 men in a game, baseball. To the nine who hold regular positions, he adds the coach at third base, and asserts his role is every bit as important as that of any of the others. Of course, there are only nine on the side that is in the field, but the side at bat, according to the new manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is incomplete without a smart ball player in the box a few feet outside the third base line.

"I don't consider the first base coach a very important person," says Joe. "He may be of some account in catching signs or in disturbing a pitcher, but he has only to take care of the runner at first base, and that runner is in a position to take care of himself. But the man over at third must be alive and know baseball pretty thoroughly. Innumerable games have been won because the third base coach knew when to have the runners take chances, and innumerable battles have been lost because 'bone' coaches held up runners or made them go ahead at the wrong time.

"With the Cubs we were always particular about our coaches at third base when a game was tight. I remember one occasion last spring. We were tied up to the eighth inning, and we got a man to second base with two out. King Cole was coaching at third. Some of us said to Chance, 'Will he know enough to send him in?' Meaning had Cole enough experience and knowledge of the game to coach the runner all the way from second on any given hit.

"Chance immediately called Cole to the bench and sent out Artie Hoffman in his place. The batter hit a ground ball to the infield. It was tumbled momentarily and the play was made to first base too late to get the batter. Artie sent his man home without the slightest hesitation, and the winning run was scored, although the play at the plate was close.

"The other side didn't score in the next inning, and it was our game, but if Hoffman hadn't taken that chance at the right time, we might have wound up in a tie.

"Of course, some may suggest that we might have won any way; that the next batsman might have hit a home run if the runner had been held at third, but the only safe basis on which to figure baseball plays is results. One can never tell what might have happened, but always knows what did happen and can make plans for the future.

"I believe a great deal of the recent

Picking Pittsburgh to win the National league pennant is quite popular these days. But there are seven more clubs and several more days.

The news that J. Geiser, ex-Zoo, is playing for Cincinnati this year was whispered among the athletes yesterday. J. got his preposition wrong; he may be playing in Cincinnati all right, but not for.

BAD WEATHER CAUSES RECORD NUMBER OF POSTPONEMENTS IN BOTH MAJOR LEAGUES

Season Is Still Too Early to Get Accurate Line on Probable Pennant Contenders

NEW YORK, April 20.—Reasonably good baseball weather in the last few days, after an opening period of mistiness which caused no less than 23 postponements with a week has accelerated the "shaking down" process in the two major leagues.

The clubs gradually are finding their respective levels, although the results of scheduled embarrassments still are visible in the percentage tables. These daily computations hardly can be expected to give a really accurate line on the playing ability of the teams until the first all-round series of engagements has been completed and each club has been tested against all the other seven contenders for the pennant of its organization.

The National league list, with Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh, and Chicago showing first division class, looks the more natural of the two tables. One of the big features of the week's play has been the rise of the Giants from last place to near the top of the column.

The champions apparently have struck their stride, although it is true all their victories have been at the expense of Boston, last year's tail enders. Philadelphia has had only Brooklyn to contend with and all its games have been won by one run margins. The series has developed some high class pitching by Manager Doolittle's box men, however, and the club looks strong. Pittsburgh has devoted its principal attentions to Cincinnati. It found the Reds a hard club to beat, but got away with three completed games, although played to a standstill in the dusk in the other.

Chicago could do no better than break even with St. Louis, but had the edge in the series with Pittsburgh. The latter club's pitching staff now is showing something of its expected form, and the Chicago box work, likewise, has been picking up.

Brooklyn has been doing little effective batting, while their fielding "bobbles" have been costly. Cincinnati's lost games have mostly gone by close scores and better work from Tinker's team may be expected. The Boston, while fighting bravely, seemed outclassed in their recent games with the Giants. St. Louis still may be put down as an uncertain quantity.

FRANK CHANCE FIRST TO TAKE A MAJOR LEAGUE TEAM OUT OF STATES TO TRAIN

Yankees' Trip to Bermuda a Big Success and Same Plan May Be Adopted Next Year

By W. J. MACBETH.
NEW YORK, April 20.—Bermuda is likely to become as much of a contested question as the pennants of the major leagues. Frank Chance proved conclusively the benefits to be derived from the beautiful climate of this little island dependency of Great Britain.

When Chance left New York for Bermuda he weighed 235 pounds in his winter overcoat. When he left Bermuda for New York he scarcely raised the beam at 182 pounds, stripped. Chance therefore took off more than 25 pounds of excess baggage, but that is not the point.

Chance went to Bermuda a physical question mark. He has been unable to play during two baseball campaigns. The layoff had rolled up many pounds of useless flesh. If he had been a young ball player his task of getting into fit physical condition would have been hard indeed. For a veteran of 35 years' service the effort seemed absolutely impossible before Hank proved it wasn't, an exception to the laws of "youth will be served."

Frank Chance believes that he would not have been able to overcome the handicaps under which he labored but for the rejuvenating climate of Bermuda. He is a living example of what may be accomplished there. He was in Bermuda seven weeks. In less than four weeks he was almost down to playing weight. He started his "come back" efforts very doubtful as to the possibility of getting his legs into shape. According to Trainer Barrett, Chance has the best pair of legs on the team.

What Chance accomplished simply shows the possibilities of Bermuda. His entire squad left the island as fit as any club which ever represented the American league in this city. The athletes found unusually rough weather on their return to the north but this did not seem to effect them as it had done previously when the preparatory work had been carried out in Georgia. The highlanders were so lucky as to be knocked about and out of commission in their exhibition games around New York. This was the fault of luck and not of lack of physical fitness.

New York will return to Bermuda next year. One other major league club is likely to go there. Charles E. Ebbets, the Brooklyn magnate, believes a visit would prove not only beneficial but financially successful as well. He is only one of many who think that a series of practice games between two first-class major league clubs would draw a rate sufficient to pay a great part of the training expenses. Mr. Ebbets is very fond of Chance's Yankees just now. The big bear filled his new park in the first game of the spring in this vicinity. The clubs are booked to battle next year at the new Farrell field. Charley is not averse to grabbing off all the money he can and he sees a nice little pot of it in Bermuda.

PLANT TREES

LAST Friday was Arbor Day, but the occasion passed unnoticed in Colorado Springs. Yet Colorado Springs, of all places, is the one where Arbor Day ought to be carefully observed. Not that we lack shade trees, for at present we have plenty of them, except in some of the newer parts of the city. But the important point is that it will be only a few years until a large proportion of the cottonwoods will have disappeared, and in a few years more all of them will have succumbed to the infirmities of age.

Fortunately nobody has planted cottonwoods since the early days. The cottonwood admirably served its purpose at a time when the demand was for a tree of quick growth to afford shade to the barren townsite. Moreover, the cottonwood could get along with little water, which was another important factor.

It behooves both the City Council and the people to heed the rapidly with which the old cottonwoods are disappearing. Every year a larger number must be cut down and hauled away. They are dying out rapidly, and even before they die the branches become brittle and break easily in the high winds.

It will not do to wait until the cottonwoods are gone before planting trees to replace them. Sturdy saplings of the longer-lived and more ornamental varieties, such as elm and hard maple, ought to be planted between the cottonwoods now. Indeed, a beginning should have been made on a large scale at least ten years ago, but since this was not done it is all the more important that no more time be lost in taking steps to insure that the streets will not be shadeless ten years from now when the old cottonwoods have disappeared.

WHO GETS THE DIFFERENCE?

LAST week the first National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits was held in Chicago. It was attended by farmers, truck growers, and agricultural experts from all over the country, and its object was to find out why the producer of farm products gets such a small share of the price paid for them by the ultimate consumer.

One of the delegates, an Iowa farmer, presented an interesting exhibit in the shape of a statement of some of his expenses in Chicago, expressed in terms of farm products. This is how it read:

Four blocks trip in taxicab, equivalent to four bushels of rye.
 Tip to bellboy, equivalent to two pounds of butter.
 Bottle of milk, three times what he was paid for it on the farm.
 Theater ticket, equivalent to price of one suckling pig.

"That just shows us what we get back when we have to do the buying instead of the selling," was his comment.
 Who gets the difference? The railroads have been blamed for taking it in excessive freight rates, but in a recent magazine article, Mr. B. F. Yoakum contends that this is incorrect. Yet there is no doubt that something is wrong somewhere. The farmers at the conference showed that while Chicago housewives are paying two cents a pound for fresh cabbage, tons of these vegetables are rotting on the ground because it doesn't pay the farmer to ship them to market. This applies to a variety of farm products, especially vegetables.

The trouble seems to be that there are too many middlemen, each of whom must make a profit. By the time the produce has gone from the farmer to the consumer it has passed through the hands of the railroad company, one or two commission men and a retailer. It is plain that this is a factor in the problem of the high cost of living which cannot be overlooked.

THE CHEYENNE MOUNTAIN ROAD

AN automobile road to Cripple Creek by way of Cheyenne Mountain, with a maximum grade of six per cent as compared with the present fourteen per cent, is a realization of the near future. The road traverses the Pike National Forest, and will be built by the Forest Service, in cooperation with the County Commissioners. The contract is to be let this month and a large part of the work will be done during the summer.

The acquisition of this important mountain road is another direct benefit of the Forest Service. Ten per cent of the money received by the Government from the sale of timber in the National Forests is set apart for road building in the territory from which it is derived, and since the construction of this road will be of great advantage to the men in charge of the Pike Forest it was selected as the first enterprise of the kind hereabouts.

But its greatest benefit will be to the public. The grade of the old Cheyenne Mountain road is too steep for automobiles, and in many places the road is so bad that it cannot even be used by horse-drawn vehicles. The completion of the new highway will make accessible to motorists some of the finest scenery in the region, and will also enable them to completely encircle Pikes Peak by automobile, just as is now done by railway.

THE SUCCESSIVE GENERATIONS.

From the Kansas City Star.
 Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the great financier, gives most of her time to social work. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is one of the leaders in the movement against "white slavery." The daughter of Senator Mark Hanna, Mrs. Medill McCormick, is an active advocate of working women's organization.

Such interests of many of the second generation of wealth are a better dependence for the future than the earlier hope that the second and succeeding generations would squander what the fathers and grandfathers accumulated. Spendthrifts do not materially affect the general welfare. Persons with social instincts and a sense of responsibility do.

THE VALUE OF ADRIANOPLE TAKEN.

From Harper's Weekly.
 Cabled comment on the fall of Adrianople is a little confusing. Indeed, if the whole business were not so bloody, we should be tempted to call the European discussion of it amusing. The great powers, we are told, are rather indignant with the Balkan allies for pressing the siege to a conclusion, arguing that more fighting was unnecessary, since peace was already "in sight." Maybe so, but was not peace at least equally "in sight" several months ago, when the parties to the war all sent commissioners to London to make it, a very human of the great powers undertook to give their supervisory assistance? Was not Adrianople, then, the main stumbling-block in the negotiations? Until Adrianople finally was taken, was there any chance in the situation to induce the allies to stop fighting and try negotiating again?

Somewhat else, no doubt, has already suggested the analogy between the Balkan war and that other warfare in the east which we read about in Homer. In the Homeric war-making, as we all remember, the actual visible contestants were but a part of what was going on. Always, always, there, a very human of the highest powers were intently watching the struggle, quite frequently taking a hand in it, and pretty steadily minded, although far from cordially minded, to have the final say about the outcome. Substitute "greater powers" for "higher powers," and we have again pretty much the same state of affairs Homer described.

MR. MORGAN.

From Harper's Weekly.
 A great banker—the greatest of his or perhaps of any time.
 A matchless upholder of properties, who never encouraged or profited from destructive performance.
 A faithful trustee of billions, ever conscious of his responsibility, and ever ready to protect and defend to the limit of his own resources all interests entrusted to his care.
 A man of amazing comprehension and extraordinary insight, possessing a capacity to foresee events which amounted almost to genius.
 An optimist full of faith in his country and in his fellow-men.
 A most human lover of humanity, who never in his long life rejected an appeal for aid to the helpless and suffering.
 A Christian, staunch, devoted, and unflinching in fidelity to Christianity as he understood it.
 A generous but very sober.
 A great and sensitive but extremely modest man.
 A citizen of the highest integrity and the staunchest fidelity.

Above all a true patriot, the most distinctive and most vivid embodiment of the spirit of his time—a lover of power, but not of money; a great, a very great American.
 The like of Mr. Morgan has never been seen in this land and probably never will be. It is a gratifying thought that he died serene in the hope and belief that in his last days he had come to be known for what he was and that he held the affection no less than the admiration of his fellow-citizens of the great republic which all his life he had served and loved with the intensity of a powerful and loyal nature.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS AMBASSADORS.

From Harper's Weekly.
 All of the important embassies in Washington are either owned outright or are rented by the countries represented, ample funds are provided for upkeep, and salaries range from $30,000 to $50,000. England pays her ambassador at Paris $45,000; at Berlin, $40,000; at St. Petersburg, $35,000; at Rome, $35,000; and at Vienna, $40,000. Germany pays her ambassador at Paris $30,000; at London, $35,000; at St. Petersburg, $35,000; at Rome, $25,000; and at Vienna, $30,000. The French ambassador at Berlin receives $28,000; at London, $40,000; at Rome, $24,000; at St. Petersburg, $40,000; and at Vienna, $35,000. The Austrian ambassador receives at Berlin $30,000; at Paris, $35,000; at London, $45,000; at Rome, $35,000; and at St. Petersburg, $35,000. Russia pays her ambassador at Berlin $40,000; at London, $40,000; at Paris, $40,000; at Vienna, $40,000; and at Rome, $32,000.
 Three proffers by President Wilson of the most important ambassadorial appointments have already been declined—a circumstance quite the reverse of complimentary to England and France. Undoubtedly other names attracted Mr. Wilson and possibly Dr. Eliot and Mr. McComb, but the fact remains that any one of the three would have been obliged, in the event of his acceptance, to draw upon his personal funds. Despite the fact, then, that most of those mentioned for the bigger places either have plenty of money themselves or have wives who have it and are willing to blow it in for personal gratification, it is little wonder that the president is annoyed and embarrassed by the restrictions in choice imposed upon him.
 It is a great pity, he says, truly, "that the country has to ask sacrifices of those who are invited to serve it abroad—a service which every year becomes more exacting and more important. The sacrifice of time, of means, and of opportunity at home is very serious for any but men of large means and leisure, and the diplomatic service is unnecessarily hampered."

CAREFUL WITH THE INCOME TAX!

From Harper's Weekly.
 They are certainly making no mistake in giving plenty of preliminary study to the proposed income tax feature of their great enterprise. We wish, indeed, there were more time to consider it.
 We must not forget that a revenue tariff is, after all, a tariff for revenue, and that the amount of revenue it yields is sure to be a very important and by no means unimportant criterion of its success. From that point of view too great care cannot be taken of the income tax provisions. They will be an experiment, and their actual results in revenue are extremely difficult to calculate, whether a flat rate or a sliding scale is finally preferred.
 That is not the whole of the difficulty, by any means. There is the practical certainty that any rate of scale of rates adopted will provoke strenuous objections. There is the probability that any federal income tax at all may prove unpopular with very considerable classes, even though the country as a whole decidedly approves the principle of it. There is the question of the advisability of beginning at once, the time of peace and not of war, to rely at all largely on this new means of raising money.

Of course, there are considerations on the other side, and the strongest of them, we think, is the very simple one that when people pay a direct tax, they know it for a tax and they know how much it is. That makes for watchfulness and some other things Americans have been neglecting. Nevertheless, we for one, shall not be grieved if the revenue-raising quality of the tariff-bill proper shall exceed present expectations, so that the proportions of the income tax may safely fall below them.

THE FEAR OF GOD.

From the London Spectator.
 The Bull Moose has put the fear of God into the hearts of party politicians throughout the length and breadth of America. He has made them understand that there is something more than party to be considered, and that there is a limit to political self-interest. Hitherto it has been supposed that the American voter was so much enslaved by party that there was hardly any sacrifice he would not make, provided he was told in loud and emphatic tones that it was demanded in the interests of the great party to which he belonged.
 He might be sad, sorry and ashamed, but it was held an article of faith that he would accept any humiliation, and would support men he believed to be unworthy, provided he were told that it would or thought it would ruin the party if he were to show any signs of independence. The election just passed has changed all this. It will leave an indelible mark upon American history. The Bull Moose has come to stay. It is a party that founded in righteousness whose name will endure.

"As the Twig Is Bent"

By RUTH CAMERON.

The laundress, for some unknown reason, was two days late when the laundry, and the head of the family discovered one morning that he hadn't a single clean collar.
 "Where are the clean collars?" he called to his wife.
 She left the toast to burn and hurried into the bedroom to answer him. "Why, the laundry hasn't come," she explained, apologetically. "I don't know why. I'm awfully sorry. Her tone was extremely apologetic, and her manner most deprecating. Now the head of the house was new to his job and didn't know exactly what heads of houses did under such circumstances. But when he heard his wife's apologetic tone, he took his cue from that. Evidently he was expected to blame her, and so he did. "I'd like to know what I'm going to do," he growled in a most accusing manner. "Here I am, I suppose I'll have to use one of those half-dirty ones. Give me the laundry bag. I wish you'd see that I don't get caught like this again."

Of course she hastened to hand him the bag, and of course she promised not to offend again as humbly as if she had really been to blame, and of course she was very sweet and solicitous at breakfast to atone for the sin she hadn't committed, and of course he graciously relented, as heads of houses usually do when they have relieved their minds by blaming someone for their annoyances.

And lastly, of course that man is going to develop into a household deity. Twenty years from now he will be confirmed tyrant in his home. Why shouldn't he be when his wife is evidently so eager to be tyrannized over? When you see a spoiled child you can know there is a spoiling mother behind him. When you see a bullying, tyrannical husband, you can know that he has a wife who has helped to develop this attitude.

It's a tremendous relief to the mind to have someone to blame for anything that annoys you. Therefore when a wife shows that she is willing to be reproached for every unpleasant thing that happens, whether it is really her fault or not, do you blame the husband for using this safety valve whenever he has a feeling of annoyance?

I don't. At least no more than I blame the wife for taking that attitude.
 Good husbands, like good children, must be trained from the very start. A wrong attitude at the beginning means an ever-widening breach between what is and what ought to be. The wife who wants to live with a reasonable, just husband, did not a tyrant, will not invite her husband to blame her for things that are not her fault.

She will sympathize with him for his annoyances, and try to help him out of them, but she will not apologize for them when she knows she is entirely guiltless.

Cubist Art

By GEORGE FITCH.
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Cubist art is that emancipated expression of the rectilinear peripheries of cosmic transcendentalism, which is best enunciated in passionate planes.
 If the reader does not understand this explanation, he should be ashamed of himself. That the writer hasn't the slightest idea of what it means is quite another matter. For that is the true intensiveness of cubist art. Any fool can paint a picture which he understands, but only a genius can paint a picture which causes him, when it is finished, to clutch his cascading hair with both hands and exclaim wildly: "What ailed me when I accomplished that!"
 Thus, cubism is the doctrine of the puzzled painter to the intelligent observer. The painter, having had a picture, and wishing to have it diagnosed before he has another, exhibits

"Rectilinear peripheries of cosmic transcendentalism."

If it is then the duty of the observer to interpret it? Under the cubist system the same picture can be interpreted in 11,000 different ways. One picture may represent to the trained observer, not only the battle of Waterloo, and the eruption of Vesuvius, but also a composite picture of the presidents, and the great lumber firm at Chilpana Falls. The beauty of the system, he comes at once apparent. By buying one picture, the investor can secure an entire art gallery, and can enjoy it for years, merely changing the subject for every morning, and varying his drinks a little each evening.

Cubist art is explained at length by the cubist, but the art is so much simpler than the explanation that unless the compositor will kindly fill a line at this point, the said explanation will be over-cubed.
 To paint cubist pictures requires great genius and self-restraint. The painter must abandon all previous ideas of art, nature and religion, and paint as nearly as possible in straight lines. This can best be done in the ordinary straight jacket, so popular in our leading institutions for the regulation of advanced and explosive thought. (Copyrighted by George Mathew Adams.)

TEARS ARE OUT OF STYLE

Emotion Must Now Be Expressed in a More Subtle Way

E. Clephan Palmer in the London News and Leader.
 One of the most conspicuous features of modern life is the change in the expression of emotion. There seems to be no doubt that the time will come when all the crude methods—the tears, the downcast eyes, the outbursts of passionate anger, the broken voice—will disappear entirely.

Though women are still inclined to cling to the old methods, men have already learned to express feeling more subtly. Something of the progress can be judged from a comparison between the present day and, say, the sixteenth century.

We know, for example, that Henry VIII constantly burst into tears; that when the Duke of Anjou was being pressed to marry Elizabeth he retired to his cabinet and bewailed half a day in shedding tears; that when the funeral sermon was being preached on the Regent Murray of Scotland "there was not a man in all that iron crowd but was in tears," and that when James I was angry he wept like a fresh-baked brioche. If kings and princes could show their feelings so crudely, it is quite certain that the people had no more subtlety.

What a change today! Emotion must be subtle now or nothing. Women may still weep a little, but men must do nothing more obvious than light a cigarette or go out for a game of golf. In the old days a man in tears was an ordinary thing, but now he is looked at askance, and blamed, as an actor is blamed for forgetting his part.

Watch a man at a theater when a woman on the stage starts into tears. He is uncomfortable, and looks away, not because he feels sorry for the woman, but because he resents so clumsy an expression of feeling. He wants to have his emotions touched, but these tears and these sobs do nothing for him. Even the gallery feels more inclined to laugh than to weep in sympathy. But everyone knows how a subtle suggestion of grief by a clever actress will give the whole audience a lump in the throat.

Novels, too, are no longer wet with the tears of their heroines. Authors recognize that the old symptoms of emotion are no use. Their heroine must be dry-eyed and headstrong. She must not show her feelings in the old obvious, elementary way. She must not blush. She must not swoon. Above all, she must not burst into tears.

OLD NAMES FOR MALADIES

From the London Chronicle.

Has Scotland still its own word for measles? Dean Ramsay relates that in 1775 Mrs. Betty Rainsford, who kept a boarding school for young ladies in the Trongate of Glasgow, asked a new pupil whether she had had measles. "Yes, ma'am," replied the girl. "I've had the sma-pox, the mirls, the blabs, the scaw, the kinkbost and the fever, the branks and the worm." "Sma-pox" and even the vague "fever" might not worry an English reader, but it needs a glossary to interpret the others in order as measles, nettlesrash, itch, whooping cough, mumps and toothache.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE MODERN WOMAN
 XXVII WOMEN LIBRARIANS.
 By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The great library movement is responsible for opening up a new profession to which educated women are called in larger numbers than men. It is distinctly an educational work which in some respects may be compared with teaching, although the differences between the callings are more pronounced than the similarities. Both require a certain amount of education, and each plays a part in the dissemination of knowledge. The remuneration of each is a small one financially. The teacher has the advantage of a long vacation in the summer months and of shorter hours at work. The librarian has no work to take home. When she closes her desk at the library she is free until she reopens it. With the teacher, however, to spend a long evening correcting papers and preparing for the next day's lessons.

Until the time of the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, in 1876, the library efforts of the country had been rather fragmentary and desultory. After the convention held in Philadelphia at that time, the organization of the American Library association became more complete and the different states began to form branch organizations. Advanced systems of cataloging and classification of books were opened to teach library methods. From the beginning, a larger percentage of women than men attended these schools.

Partisanship Alleged.

The complaint is sometimes made that the woman librarian is too apt to be partisan in her office, and in one conservative town, complaint was made because a woman librarian, interested in woman suffrage, took advantage of her position to circulate suffrage literature and to suggest the needs of "Votes for Women" to every adult who approached her desk. If this charge is sustained it will be unusual, as, in the opinion of those who have studied the subject, the woman librarian is less apt than a man to allow outside interests to affect her work. Her daily contact with the public is apt to be utilized in some effort to become more helpful to those who come to her for books than for any personal interest. The influence of the woman librarian can be incalculably good and numerous incidents testify that it is so. Miss Maud Campbell of the public library of Passaic, New Jersey, who has had much to do with helping the immigrants to find books in their own language, tells of one homesick-looking foreigner who said to her one evening: "I always thought until I came to your book house that an American was too much hurry up to make money to take trouble for a poor nobody like me."

There are many strange ideas of the purposes and objects of the public library, and it is the woman librarian that comes most frequently in contact with them. An Italian woman in an eastern town sent her little girl to spend the day at the public library because she had the measles and was not allowed to go to school. The woman librarian who undertook to take the child home, had difficulty in convincing the mother that the nursing of a sick child was not included even in the duties of a children's librarian.

A woman librarian who had been in the habit of furnishing for the daily papers lists and brief reviews of the newly added books in the library, recently made public a letter from a woman belonging to a literary club, asking that she prepare for her gratuitously, of course, an article upon "The novels of Maurice Hewitt," as "a busy mother with sickness in the family had no time to write lengthy articles herself, and no chance to have access to the novels." Another woman wrote to the woman in charge of the genealogical department of a library in a New England town and asked her to prepare for a list of her colonial and revolutionary ancestors as contained in the numerous books of the library, which she had no time to read for herself.

Training for Library Work.

The training for library work in the different schools, differs but little in its scope. Most of the public libraries in large cities have training classes for apprenticeship which prepare for sub-librarian positions. To secure a position of any importance or responsibility a diploma from a library school is required. The entrance requirements which were sent out to this

COLORADO NEEDS MORE FARMERS; EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITIES HERE

Department Commerce and Labor Issues Report Showing Undeveloped Resources

Colorado needs more farmers, and the opportunities for cattle and sheep raising are unlimited, according to the report of the federal department of commerce and labor, just issued. With Colorado importing millions of dollars worth of dairy and garden produce, with fertile land lying idle and unused water in the reservoirs, the government report shows that the state needs agriculturalists—farmers, stock raisers, dairymen, and poultry men—to utilize the waiting opportunities. The following statements are quoted from the report:

"The leading field crops of the state, as judged by the total value in 1909, are: Hay and forage, $17,282,000; wheat, $5,490,000; oats, $4,177,000; potatoes, $2,705,000; corn, $2,049,000; barley, $1,001,000.

"In addition to the above, approximately $9,000,000 was paid to the farmers by the sugar factories for beets.

"Of the totals for hay and forage crops, alfalfa contributes nearly two-fifths of the acreage and over one-half of the quantity and value.

"Alfalfa takes the place of clover and timothy. Three cuttings are taken from the fields, each yielding from one to two tons, the yield at the end of the year often being as high as seven tons to the acre. Four tons to the acre is a conservative estimate for the state. It costs about $2 per ton to raise and is worth from $6 to $10 in the stack or $7 to $15 delivered at the market.

"Colorado apples, peaches and other orchard products command the top of the market in eastern centers. Colorado is one of the leading fruit-producing states of the west. There is a great opportunity for newcomers in the markets of the state for small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, dewberries and grapes. The raising of these can be combined with truck gardening, thus bringing quick returns.

"Colorado potatoes are famous. The average yield of high-quality potatoes on irrigated ground is 200 bushels per acre. Many of the yields go over 300 and 400 bushels to the acre.

"In quality, celery and other vegetables are first-class, and bring high prices.

"Speaking of stock raising, the report continues:

Stock Raising.

"Opportunities for farmers to raise cattle and sheep in small herds are unlimited. The day of huge herds is past and the small cattle and sheep raiser must now supply the demand. There are big profits in hog raising, also over $10,000,000 worth of livestock is brought into Colorado annually from other states, for consumption here, so that all stock raisers have a good home market.

"Raising hogs and mules is profitable. The prices for hogs are good, and prices they bring and because of the ease in raising them in the dry, rate climate.

"Poultry raising affords a good opportunity because the returns are quick, the investment comparatively small and the products always in demand.

"Hens are good money makers on both irrigated and dry farms. On the homesteads of eastern Colorado or on land that can be bought for $5 to $20 per acre, drought-resistant crops will always provide food for poultry. The average from 20 to 30 cents a dozen the year round, sometimes going to 60 cents. Live poultry brings from 30 to 40 cents a pound. About $4,000,000 worth of poultry products is imported into Colorado every year.

"The average value of a Colorado farm has advanced during the last decade from $5,520 to more than $10,000. The average value of land and buildings is now $20.19 an acre, or somewhat less than three times as much as 10 years ago.

"Many Europeans who came to Colorado with practically nothing a few years ago are now prosperous farmers, and got their start by leasing land from the sugar companies. These companies will lease land, buildings, equipment and provide expert advice to the lessee. In this way the immigrant becomes familiar with farming under irrigation and other local conditions, and the step from the condition of tenant to that of owner is accomplished with the minimum of risk. It is especially easy for them to get start in truck farming and beet growing. They can take up free homesteads, buy small tracts on easy terms or rent land for beet growing, truck gardening, etc.

"The fact that the state imports between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 annually in farm products is assurance of a good cash market at high prices for all that can be raised by 30,000 farmers."

Rev. J. S. Wilson Speaks
ON "BETHEL AND PENIEL"

Giving a sermon on "Bethel and Peniel," the Rev. J. S. Wilson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, yesterday took his text from Gen. 28:19 and 22:30. "And he called the name of that place Bethel. And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel, for said he, I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved."

He spoke in part as follows: "The name of Jacob shines in the nation which has given to the world the ten commandments and the Bible and Jesus Christ and the sermon on the mount, and when the redeemed multitude are gathered from the north and south and east and west, they shall sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of God. In Jacob's life there is a transformation, which extends over the years, but he comes at length to the place where he is given the new name, Israel; a prince of God. The two scenes referred to in our text are turning points in Jacob's life. They are crises in his life's pilgrimage."

"At Bethel, God reveals himself to him and assures him that the land upon which he lies will be given to him and to his seed, and he will be with him and keep him, and bring him again in this land. That night marked the beginning of his new life. Here he makes open confession of God as his God and keeper, and pledges that he will render to him his obedience, and trust and love and worship. But Jacob must pass through the experience of Peniel before he comes into true relation with God. When, after 20 years, Jacob is journeying back to Canaan, and to meet his brother, Esau, he is still possessed of that craftiness and self-confidence, and self-reliance which had been the sin of his life. At the place which Jacob names Peniel, because he has seen God face to face, God wrestles with him, and he comes to a sense of his own weakness and sinfulness, and he sees, at all through the evening of his life."

Divine Relation Changed.
His relation with God is changed, and in weakness and in humility, he comes to his conqueror for help. Jacob becomes Israel; the supplanter becomes a prince. The dark and crafty character of his youth has been changed and he becomes Israel, the prince of God. He is a changed man, and we see it all through the evening of his life."

Every man needs to come to Bethel. He needs to come to the place where he shall hear the voice of God speaking to his own soul. He must see Christ as the stairway that leads from the lowest depths of earth to the highest heaven. God comes to men just as did that night to Jacob at Bethel, and he says: 'I will be with you, I will keep you, I will not leave you, I will bring you back home.' This is God's offer to the sinner who is wandering away from home, making the journey through a weary, restless world. It is man's part to accept the guidance of God, and to follow the path of righteousness with God. Then Peniel follows. It is where men are stripped of their self-confidence, and being made conscious of their own weakness, cling to God for blessing. God often uses mysterious and powerful forces to bring about this end, and a touch from the unseen world transforms a life, and men are made to see that victories are gained 'not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts.'

Edith Wynne Matthison
Speaks of American Voice

In view of the decided views of David Blapham, who gave his theories on American voices and the English language last Friday evening at the Burns, it is interesting to see what the New York Tribune has to say of Miss Edith Wynne Matthison and her estimate of "that horrid American voice," as we too often hear it called.

"Kind words and just criticism unite in Miss Edith Wynne Matthison's remarks upon the American voice. She finds many beautiful, well-modulated voices among American women. And such stridency as she concedes to exist she lays chiefly to the noise of our large cities."

In this latter regard she seems to us to have a truth that has received very little attention. It is the fashion to rail at American voices as shrill and vulgar without once considering the physical conditions to which they are subjected. Any voice that has to shout down a subway train or subdue an afternoon tea or crack a joke above the yowling of a cabaret singer is bound to suffer. In a town as uproarious as New York the temptation to force a voice is constant. And raising a voice above the natural pitch is the surest source of a strident tone.

"What is the remedy?" Miss Matthison remarks that she herself does not attempt to speak when in the subway or underneath an elevated railroad, or when everybody else is talking at a reception. Perhaps a little judicious silence might help American voices materially.

But she also pleads for compulsory courses in spoken English at schools and colleges. Taken young enough, she concedes that any voice can be turned into a well-modulated voice.

"May we add, as another influence, Miss Matthison's own delightful example? Certainly in the present generation, the English voice has not been more exquisitely spoken on the stage than by Miss Matthison. If Americans could hear enough of her there would be no trouble in reforming American voices. They would reform themselves."

WILL U. S. REGULATIONS INTERFERE WITH RECENT GAME LAWS IN COLORADO?

Colorado's new game law may be knocked sky high by department of agriculture regulations, according to information which reached Secretary Whitehead of the state bureau of child and animal protection Saturday. Passage by congress of the McLean law, for the protection of migratory game and insectivorous birds, such as geese, honk ducks, swan, snipe, plover, woodcock, rail, wild pigeons and hundreds of other varieties, will set state laws at naught whenever they interfere with government regulations, still to be drawn.

A copy of the bill received by Secretary Whitehead shows that all birds created by the law are within the custody and protection of the United States, and it is stated that all federal regulations and restrictions contrary to any state game laws shall supersede state laws. The regulations are, however, to be drawn in conformity with conditions, seasons and zones for which they are intended.

Prosecution for killing birds, practiced under the new law are brought by United States district attorneys in the federal courts, one of the reasons for its passage being that the state courts deal too leniently with those who kill birds of this character.

Secretary Whitehead believes there will be no open season on doves under the new law, and other restrictions may be adopted which are in conflict with the present law of the state.

The bureau is posting notices of a reward of $5 for any information leading to the conviction of any person killing any insectivorous or song bird, or molesting or destroying the nest of any such bird. The state law is strict on this point, but lacks enforcement.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Treaties between the United States and more than a dozen foreign governments will be necessary, if a plan for international protection of migratory birds which is embodied in Senate resolution No. 25 is to be fully carried out. This resolution was introduced recently by Senator George F. McLean of Massachusetts, and was favorably reported April 8, by the senate committee on foreign relations. There is every reason to believe that it will soon be passed by the senate.

John B. Burnham, president of the American Game Protective and Propagation association, has just returned from Washington, where he had favorable interviews with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan in regard to this matter. Should the resolution be passed by congress and receive the indorsement of the president, the principal countries, with which it will be necessary to open negotiations are: Great Britain, with Canada to the north and insular possessions to the south of us which harbor many of our migrants at different seasons; France, on account of her colonies in the West Indies and in Guiana; Japan, with whom we have had trouble in the past because of the activities of her feather hunters in the Hawaiian islands; Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Colombia and Ecuador. There are other countries with less important possessions to the south, or near our colonies in the Pacific. These include Holland and Denmark, the independent countries in the West Indies, and other republics in South America.

Now that we have given federal protection to our migratory birds through the Weeks-McLean law, the next step should logically extend this protection in a way that will prevent a few market gunners and feather hunters from destroying the birds that will forever benefit all countries which they visit, if shooting is properly regulated.

Following is a text of Senator McLean's resolution: "Resolved that the president be requested to propose to the governments of other countries the negotiation of a convention for the mutual protection and preservation of birds."

Coffee Sermonette
We are strong on talking quality, but we deliver it.
The immense popularity of Derr Coffee is not a thing of chance. We put the quality into our coffee in the beginning and we have everlastingly kept it there through thick and thin.

So we think we have a right to crow over Derr Quality Coffee.
Use it and judge for yourself.

UNPRETENTIOUS IN EXTERIOR BUT A WINNER

This bungalow contains a multitude of special features that cannot fail to win approval on every hand. Taking one back to the early log cabin days, the low broad house with its dual porches and pergolas has little to indicate the wealth of attractions within. The living room opens on both porches. There is a large mantle with inviting seats on either side. Case-ment and French windows in dining room. A neat tile pass pantry leads to the kitchen, and a hall leads from the kitchen to the three bedrooms and living room.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN BEING SAFE?

To make assurance doubly sure, we would suggest that you insist on a title insurance policy with every loan you make, or every parcel of real estate you purchase. If you invest your money in real estate, you have a right to expect the very best security obtainable. You may have this if you will stand on your rights and demand it. The man who sells real estate or who borrows money on it, will furnish a policy if you require it. Then why not have this guaranty against future dangers?

House Cleaning

That's not a very attractive word, because it means such hard work. However, our many cleaning aids will help to lighten the labor.

There's the Howard Dustless Duster and the Dustless Mop, which will take up the dust most effectively with least work. Then the Oil Mops will oil the floor without putting too much on or breaking your back in the process.

Our scouring compounds, such as Skat, Gre-Solvent, Bon Ami, Sapallo and Dutch Cleanser, will surely make the dirt fly.

And don't forget the brushes, wall and ceiling brushes, scrubbing brushes, closet brushes and dusters.
